

Always have your Advance Directive Available

An advance directive is only valuable if its available when you need it.

Unfortunately, often when people travel their advance directive isn't readily available. Or over time, as changes are made, there ends up being multiple, conflicting copies of an advance directive.

That's why the NDHIN created the ND Health Care Directive Registry, a secure way to store and share your advance directive.

How it works

The ND Health Care Directive Registry works by allowing you to securely store your advance directive online. Once it's securely stored online, you can use your home printer to print access cards to give to your healthcare provider and store in your purse or wallet.

What is the ND Health Care Directive Registry?

A registry that was developed by the North Dakota Health Information Network (NDHIN) for ND citizens to securely store and share their health care directives. The registry is a self-service tool allowing you complete control over your health care directives.

What types of health care records can be saved in the registry?

- Health Care Advance Directive
- POLST (Physician Orders for Life Sustaining Treatment)

What types of health care records should NOT be put in the registry?

- Wills
- Medical Health Information
- Any information you would not like health care providers or individuals with access to your pin to see

How do I get started?

Go to www.nd.gov/hdir/login

How do I access it?

You access your account by logging in with your ND Login Registration. If you do not have a ND login, one can be created by registering on the login page.

Who can see it? Is it secure?

Yes, the information you put into the registry is only available to health care providers and the people you share you access card and pin number with. Never share your PIN with anyone you do not want to see your information.

What does a Health Care Directive PIN Card look like?

How do I obtain assistance?

You may seek assistance by emailing NDHIN@nd.gov or by calling 1-855-761-0534.

Support is available during normal business hours Monday-Friday 8:00 am-5:00 pm. Emails and phone messages may be sent anytime.
